All three dimensions of the National Research Council's Framework for K–12 Science Education integrated in every lesson.

NEW YORK, NY – July 5th, 2016 – Triumph Learning, producer of critically acclaimed K-12 instructional materials and interactive digital tools, today announced the upcoming release of Buckle Down 3-D Science for the 21st Century. 3-D Science joins an award winning portfolio of K-12 supplemental products anchored around Triumph's Coach series, which includes on-level, intervention, as well as practice and assessment solutions for K-12.

Each 3-D Science lesson builds from an easy-to-do activity that models the way scientists learn about the natural world. Students develop an in-depth understanding of essential science and engineering concepts which allows them to make sense of science content and apply it to real-world situations. Probing questions throughout the text, as well as at the end of each lesson, provide continuous formative assessment. Diagrams and other visual features enhance students' understanding. Additional features include:

- Hands-on activity as the focal point of each lesson
- Lessons structured using the 5E model: Engage, Explore, Explain, Elaborate, Evaluate
- An interactive format featuring open-ended questions
- Collaborative learning through small-group and whole-class discussions

Each 3-D Science book covers essential topics ascribed by the NGSS, in physical, life, and earth science, as well as engineering. The 3-D Science series will be available for Grades 3-8 beginning this July, in time for back-to-school.
